

U.S. Army Europe commander visits Poland

Feb. 28, 2013

By U.S. Army Europe Public Affairs

Tweet

U.S. Army Europe commander Lt. Gen. Donald M. Campbell Jr. (saluting, in light camouflage) takes part in a ceremony with Polish forces in Warsaw, Feb. 28. Campbell was in Poland to visit with Polish Land Forces Commander Lt. Gen. Zbigniew Glowienka and Polish troops and observe training. (U.S. Army photo)

RELATED ITEMS:

- Polish Ministry of National Defence
- Illinois National Guard
- International Security Assistance Force

HEIDELBERG, Germany - U.S. Army Europe commanding general Lt. Gen. Donald M. Campbell Jr. visited with Polish Land Forces commander Lt. Gen. Zbigniew Glowienka and Polish forces in Warsaw before observing training conducted at exercise Bagram XIII, Feb 28.

Social Media

Facebook

Twitter

Flickr

YouTube

For the past decade the United States and Poland have enjoyed a strong and vibrant military partnership that is rooted in shared commitment to regional and global security, Campbell said during the visit. The bilateral relationship between our countries is stronger than ever and U.S. Army Europe remains firmly committed to strengthening this partnership in the years to come, he added.

Bagram XIII is a U.S. Army Europe-supported biannual exercise to certify members of the Polish Land Forces and their Illinois National Guard counterparts for their mission in support of NATO's International Security Assistance Forces in Afghanistan.

About us: U.S. Army Europe is uniquely positioned to advance American strategic interests across Eurasia and has unparalleled capability to prevent conflict, shape the environment and, if necessary, win decisively. The relationships we build during more than 1000 theater security cooperation events in more than 40 countries each year lead directly to support for multinational contingency operations around the world, strengthen regional partnerships, and enhance global security.