Appendix A lists references.

3. EXPLANATION OF ABBREVIATIONS AND TERMS
The glossary defines abbreviations and terms.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES
The planning and execution of successful ceremonies is a command responsibility, which requires the hosting unit’s staff and key participants to carefully coordinate, plan, and rehearse.

   a. Hosting Units.

      (1) Planning. Hosting units will begin planning for a ceremony at least 60 days before the scheduled date of the event.

      (2) Plan Approval. At least 30 days before the event, hosting units must brief their ceremony execution plans to the command sergeant major (CSM) of the next higher headquarters for approval.

      (3) Rehearsals. As a minimum, unit preparation for a ceremony will include—

         (a) A key leaders’ rehearsal.

         (b) A full rehearsal.

         (c) A full dress rehearsal.
(4) Musical Support. Hosting units must use AE Form 220-90A to request musical support by the USAREUR Band and Chorus (USAREUR Band). The USAREUR Band Operations must receive the request at least 110 days before the date scheduled for the event (AE Reg 220-90, para 6a(1)). Units must also provide the USAREUR Band logistic support, pay select costs, or both (AE Reg 220-90, para 7). Appendix B provides USAREUR Band guidelines on what type of musical support is appropriate based on the unit level and the location of the ceremony.

(5) Casings and Gifts. For any proposed presentations of ceremonial casings, canisters, or Government-funded gifts, hosting units must obtain a legal review from the Office of the Judge Advocate, HQ USAREUR (OJA, HQ USAREUR), no later than 30 days before the ceremony to ensure the presentation is in compliance with DOD and Army policy.

b. Next Higher Headquarters CSM. The CSM of the hosting unit’s next higher headquarters—

   (1) Will approve or disapprove the unit’s ceremony execution plan.

   (2) Is the minimum required ceremony attendee from the next higher headquarters.

   (3) Should attend the full dress rehearsal in person.

c. OJA, HQ USAREUR. The OJA, HQ USAREUR, will provide a legal review of requests to present a ceremonial casing, canister, or Government-funded items as a gift to determine whether there is a legal objection to presenting the item.

d. USAREUR Band. The USAREUR Band will provide musical support to USAREUR ceremonies based on band availability, USAREUR priorities (established by the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G3/5/7, HQ USAREUR), and the guidelines in AE Regulation 220-90. Music performance teams (MPTs) will be provided in accordance with appendix B.

5. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS
All USAREUR ceremonies will follow a standardized sequence of events. Paragraph 6 provides detailed information about each event. Units may omit specific events that are not applicable to their ceremony, but will not otherwise resequence the following standard events:

a. Pre-ceremony activities (formation of troops).

b. Welcome by the narrator.

c. Invocation.

d. Presentation of flowers.

e. Arrival of the official party.

f. Honors.

g. Inspection of the troops.

h. Honors to the Nation.
i. Passing of the colors.

j. Remarks.

k. Pass in review.

l. Army song.

m. Conclusion.

6. EVENT DETAILS AND REQUIREMENTS

Units should physically arrange all USAREUR ceremonies as shown in figure 1. Units may deviate (as little as possible) from this arrangement to accommodate indoor events or outdoor locations under special circumstances. The following event details are based on a change-of-command ceremony.

a. Pre-ceremony Activities (Formation of Troops). The Adjutant’s call, formation of the troops, and formation of the staff will be part of the pre-ceremony activities.

(1) Under normal circumstances, unit commanders will position their troop formations in a modified position of Parade Rest on the final line no later than 10 minutes before the ceremony starts. Commanders should use sound judgment and good risk-assessment practices to ensure that, in case of unexpected delays or adverse conditions (for example, heat, rain), Soldiers are not held at a rigid ceremonial position for an extended period.

(2) The color guard will be under the control of the host-unit CSM (or senior enlisted leader), who will be positioned behind the color guard on the field.

(3) The commander of troops (COT) and the host-unit staff will take their positions as part of the formation no later than 10 minutes before the ceremony starts unless delays occur or adverse conditions prevail ((1) above).

(4) The incoming commander and his or her spouse (if applicable) should be seated next to each other in the front row of the seating area.

(5) When the narrator provides the 5-minute warning, the entire formation including the COT and staff will be at the position of Parade Rest.

b. Welcome by the Narrator. Appendix C provides sample text for the narrator’s welcome.

c. Invocation.

(1) The narrator will prompt the audience to stand for the invocation and remain standing.

(2) The invocation will be limited to 1 minute.

(3) In order to maintain a uniform appearance, the unit formations on the field will not bow their heads in prayer.

(4) After the invocation, the COT will bring the formation (by bugle call) and staff (by verbal command) to the position of Attention.
d. Presentation of Flowers.

(1) If flowers will be presented, the unit will ensure that the recipients are informed in advance that they should stand to receive the flowers only immediately after the flower bearer stops in front of them.

(2) After the presentation of the flowers, the flower bearer will offer to secure the flowers until the ceremony is over.

(3) The standard bouquet for the outgoing commander’s spouse is a dozen red roses in full bloom. The outgoing commander will pay for the cost of this bouquet.

(4) The standard bouquet for the incoming commander’s spouse is a dozen yellow rose buds. The incoming commander will pay for this bouquet.

e. Arrival of the Official Party.

(1) After the formation has taken the position of Attention and flowers have been presented (if applicable), the narrator will announce the arrival of the official party. The official party consists of the current (hosting or outgoing) commander, the incoming commander, and the reviewing officer.

(2) After the reviewing officer has stopped at his or her post, with the hosting commander to his or her left, the COT will bring the formation (by bugle call) and staff (by verbal command) to Present Arms.

f. Honors.

(1) If the reviewing officer is entitled to honors, ruffles and flourishes and a cannon salute are appropriate.

(2) If honors are to be deferred to the outgoing commander, the hosting unit must coordinate deferral with the reviewing officer’s staff before the ceremony. Units will not assume that honors will be deferred.

(3) If the reviewing officer defers honors to the outgoing commander and a ceremonial casing is to be presented, the casing bearer will move forward to present the casing to the outgoing commander immediately after the honors. After the casing is presented, the casing bearer will salute the outgoing commander and offer to secure the casing until the end of the ceremony.

g. Inspection of the Troops.

(1) The inspection party will consist of the reviewing officer, the outgoing commander, the incoming commander, and the COT.

(2) After the COT has informed the reviewing officer that the command is prepared for inspection, he or she will take his or her place between the reviewing officer and the outgoing commander.
(3) After the reviewing party moves out for the inspection, the senior staff member will move forward to take control of the staff and place them at Parade Rest.

(4) Before the return of the COT, the senior staff member will bring the staff to the position of Attention and return to his or her place as a member of the staff.

h. Honors to the Nation.

(1) The official party will consist of the outgoing commander to the reviewing officer’s right, the reviewing officer in the center, and the incoming commander to the reviewing officer’s left.

(2) The COT will bring the formation (by bugle call) and staff (by verbal command) to the position of Attention.

(3) The COT will assemble the command (by bugle call) and order the colors and unit command group to move forward. The host-unit CSM will move forward with the color guard.

(4) After the COT and colors have moved to their new positions, the COT will report to the outgoing commander that the colors are present. The outgoing commander will then direct the COT to present the command.

(5) When directed to present the command, the COT will move to a position in front of the staff and order the formation (by bugle call) and the detachment (by verbal command) to Present Arms.

(6) At the salute of the COT, the band will begin to play instrumental versions (no vocals) of the national anthems of both the host nation and the United States.

(7) After the national anthems, the COT will order the detachment (by verbal command) to the position of Order Arms and the formation (by bugle call) to the positions of Order Arms and Parade Rest. The COT will then bring the staff to Parade Rest (by verbal command).

i. Passing of the Colors.

(1) With the formation at Parade Rest, the outgoing commander will give the command “Forward March.” The official party will march to the color guard while the host-unit CSM will move from a position behind the color guard to his position in front of the color guard.

(2) The hosting commander will order the official party to halt, and the host-unit CSM will give the command “Center Face.” After executing an About Face at the Center Face command, the CSM will retrieve the unit colors right hand over left to ensure the colors are properly passed by each member of the official party.

(3) The host-unit CSM will then face about with the unit colors.

(4) The narrator will read a narrative about the importance of the unit colors.

(5) After the narration, the host-unit CSM will pass the colors to the outgoing commander. The outgoing commander will then pass the colors to the reviewing officer. The reviewing officer will pass the colors to the new commander, who will then pass them to the CSM.
(6) The host-unit CSM will give the Center Face command. The official party will now face the color guard. The CSM will then return the colors to or secure them with the color bearer.

(7) The CSM will give the About Face command. The official party will now face the audience. The CSM will then give the Forward March command, and the members of the official party will return to their previous positions on the reviewing stand.

(8) As the official party marches back to the reviewing stand, the incoming and outgoing commanders will reverse positions.

j. Remarks. The narrator will introduce—

(1) The reviewing officer who will give his or her remarks. The remarks will not exceed 5 minutes. A seat should be available to the reviewing officer for him or her to take after remarks are completed.

(2) The outgoing commander only by his or her rank and full name. The narrator will not refer to the outgoing commander as “the outgoing commander.” The outgoing commander will give his or her remarks, which will not exceed 5 minutes. A seat should be available to the outgoing commander for him or her to take after remarks are completed.

(3) The incoming commander as “The commander of [unit name], [rank, full name].” The incoming commander will give his or her remarks, which will not exceed 2 minutes.

k. Pass in Review.

(1) The new commander will remain on the reviewing stand. The COT will bring the units (by bugle call) and his or her staff (by verbal command) to the position of Attention.

(2) The COT will direct colors to Post March (by bugle call), and the unit colors, color guard, and staff will return to their positions on the parade field.

(3) The COT will face the parade field to ensure all unit colors and the color guards have returned to their positions. The COT will then execute an About Face command to face the audience.

(4) The new commander will direct the COT to pass in review. The reviewing officer and the outgoing commander will normally join the new commander on the reviewing stand.

(5) The COT will give the command “Pass in Review” (by bugle call).

(6) The COT and his or her staff, the USAREUR Band MPT (if present), and the units will pass in review. The reviewing officer will return only the salute of the COT.

(7) The reviewing party (that is, the reviewing officer, the outgoing commander, and the new commander) will salute the National Colors as they pass.
(8) After passing the ready-front marker—

(a) The COT and his or her staff will move to a position to the right of the reviewing stand and remain on the parade field.

(b) The USAREUR Band MPT (if marching) will move to a position in front of and facing the reviewing stand.

(c) The units and the color guards will continue marching off the parade field.

1. Army Song.

(1) After the last unit passes the eyes-right marker, the narrator will ask the audience to stand and join in the singing of the Army Song.

(2) The USAREUR Band MPT (if present) will play the complete Army Song as the audience sings and, if marching, will march off the parade field as the song concludes.

m. Conclusion.

(1) After the USAREUR Band has passed the COT and his or her staff, the COT will move his or her staff to a position on the parade field facing the reviewing stand.

(2) The COT will salute the new commander and officially conclude the ceremony.

(3) The narrator will provide information about the departure of the official party and any follow-on events.

7. COORDINATING DETAILS

a. Uniform.

(1) Headgear for everyone participating in a ceremony (for example, the COT, ushers, flower bearers, troop formations) will be the beret.

(2) Personnel participating in a ceremony will not wear jewelry (a wedding band is authorized), watches, sunglasses, or light-sensitive (self-darkening) vision glasses, or carry pens in their sleeves if wearing the Army combat uniform.

b. Formations.

(1) As a minimum, troop formations will consist of the unit commander, unit colors and the color bearer, and the unit CSM or senior enlisted leader.

(2) The host-unit staff formation will consist of the COT, the primary staff only, and a command bugler.
c. Signals and Honors.

(1) Bugle Calls. All commands that the COT gives to the formation will be given by bugle call. The COT will provide verbal commands to the bugler or use rehearsed audio cues to identify when to give the bugle calls, as appropriate. Bugle calls must be given at a low sound level that will not distract from the ceremony.

(2) Honors.

(a) Honors will be given to the reviewing officer (if honors are authorized), not to the highest ranking general officer (GO) or flag officer in attendance.

(b) Hosting units must coordinate with the reviewing officer’s staff and the salute battery to determine if honors will be deferred. Units will not assume that honors are deferred. To defer honors, only the reviewing officer must defer. A deferral by other intermediate commanders or officers is not required; staff coordination with intermediate commands is however recommended.

(3) Anthems. The national anthems of the host nation and the United States will be played either by the USAREUR Band MPT or by using a digital recording (that is, an MP3-format recording). USAREUR units will not use a vocalist to sing the anthems.

(4) Flags. Units will display the flag of the senior participant on the reviewing stand (if authorized a flag). Units will not display the flag of every GO in attendance.

d. USAREUR Command Group Participation or Attendance. If the USAREUR CG or DCG will participate in or attend a ceremony, the ceremony must be approved by the USAREUR G3/5/7; the Executive Services Division (ESD), Office of the Chief of Staff, HQ USAREUR; and the Protocol Office, ESD, Office of the Chief of Staff, HQ USAREUR. Units must provide read-aheads to the USAREUR G3/5/7, the ESD, and the Protocol Office before any in-progress reviews.

e. Placement of Reviewing Stand or Area. Hosting units will ensure that the position of the reviewing stand or area is abreast of the position of the audience. The members of the official party, the narrator, and the translator will not be at a position in front of the audience when giving remarks.
