[DZHCN][i].

I was in the CITY yesterday. A large number of roads are closed up garbled] fires continue [to burn][a]. There are many blitzed houses on WHITE ROAD, OLD STREET and HOLBORN. Bombs have demolished houses next to the War Ministry. Traffic and the Underground have been partly disrupted.

In the evenings I have seen many people standing around good shelters waiting for them to be opened, since they are opened only if there is an alert. Now the people quickly take refuge in a shelter, which was not the case previously.

I was on NORTHOLT Aerodrome during an alert; fighters are located (as I reported earlier [ii]). After the alert a squadron of Spitfires took about 15 minutes to take off and form up, after which they flew off to LONDON in open formation. About three or four squadrons remained on the ground. The pilots sat in and beside their aircraft - the engines were not started.

The British FRIENDS [DEUZUYa][iii] have reported that warships with anti-aircraft guns have been stationed in the THAMES near the docks, which has not happened before. They have also reported that during a visit by a British ship to the EAST END (which has suffered badly from the SAUSAGE-DEALERS' [DEBNIKI][iv] bombing) the person in charge [1 group unidentified] suggested to the latter that he should drive off quickly because of the throng of people [1 group garbled] to take the law into their own hands with violence.
