Stretching to get as close as possible to the center, were these Army and Air Force parachutists during Leap Fest 80 (National Military Jump Competition) held at Fort Bragg's Sicily Drop Zone last weekend. This was the third straight year the competition was held at Fort Bragg and pits the top Army and Air Force teams against each other. Donald Seay from Fort Bragg won the Individual Static Line Jump event, while the 40th Air Rescue and Recovery Squadron team from Hill AFB, Utah, took the Military Static Line Team event. More than 16 Army and Air Force teams participated in the two-day event. (USAF photo by Bob Bailey).

Pope Fest draws thousands to base

Intramural and varsity teams at Pope will enjoy new equipment next year thanks to the money received during Pope Fest 80, according to MWR officials.

The Base Morale, Welfare and Recreation center raised more than $12,000, before expenses, to help supplement their appropriated fund monies.

Visitors, all 7,200 of them, were greeted by bands, clowns, various rides, softball tournaments, and dancers during the three-day event. They were also able to test their skills in one of the game booths set up along the arcade.

One of the favorite stopping places for everyone seemed to be the dunking booth. There several of Pope's leaders donated their time and wet suits to sit on a small perch, while visitors were throwing softballs at the lever that dunked them.

The rides ran continually as youngsters kept the operators busy.

"We provided a service that everyone seemed to enjoy," an MWR spokesperson said. "We had about 3,000 people show up the first day. They all liked the singing groups and the bands, especially the Bluegrass band that played the last day. Next year we are trying to get the 82nd Airborne Corps jazz group."

Another highlight of the fest besides the dunking booth, was the Indian dance sponsored by Pope's Cub Scout troop. A large crowd gathered the last night to watch the dancers show their skills.

The first Pope Fest Carnival was held in October 1979 and was noted as the first carnival on base. Prior to that time the event was mainly an arts and crafts show. It ranged from viewing belly dancers to roasting marshmallows over a bonfire.

National Hispanic Heritage Week begins Sept. 14, and is a time to reflect upon the great wealth Hispanic culture has contributed to the United States. Its music, art, food, history and language are all a part of the nation. Hispanics have been a major force in the development of America. Often leaders in society, they take pride in their culture and language, nurturing a sense of justice and compassion which strengthens our democratic system. Hispanic Heritage Week events will be announced in next week's issue of the Hercules Herald.

General Sadler stresses more military courtesy

Editorial Comment

by

Major General Thomas M. Sadler
Commander, 21 AF

The need to demonstrate common courtesy and respect is a full-time requirement--on and off duty; on and off base.

Military regulations, customs, heritage, and traditions dictate that officers and NCOs be afforded a high degree of respect and special military courtesy based on their rank. In addition, most of the senior officers and NCOs are entitled to an extra degree of respect because of their age and experience. Furthermore, every one, including civilians and dependents, is entitled to the common courtesy and respect one individual should show to another under any circumstances.

We are taught from childhood to respect our family elders, and in the Air Force family, our senior officers and NCOs represent the "family elders." There is no place in today's Air Force family for anyone who is unwilling to afford other family members the respect and courtesy they have earned through the years of dedicated service to their country.

If you aren't willing to accept the military rank structure and afford proper courtesy and respect to superior ranking officers and NCOs, then you're in the wrong business.

MAC commander honors Jewish High Holy Days

With the approaching High Holy Day season ushering in Jewish New Year 5741, I extend cordial greetings to you and your families as you gather together in your homes and places of worship. This season is appropriately known in Jewish tradition as "Awesome Days," a solemn period emphasizing spiritual reflection and regeneration. The way to noble living is always open to those who choose to travel it. In the fellowship of our common religious heritage, let us seek the divine way and follow it to achieve universal brotherhood and to preserve the values of our democracy. As you celebrate this spiritual festival, may you find new strength and faith in your ancient heritage and may your prayers for peace and blessing be fulfilled.

Did you know?

Women have served in the armed forces since the American Revolution in 1775.

"Captain Molly," or Margaret Corbin, took her husband's place in the battle of Fort Mifflin when he was wounded. Gen. George Washington made her a noncommissioned officer.

In the war of 1812, Lucy Brewer disguised herself as a man so she could serve aboard the USS Constitution.

In 1947, the Army-Navy Nurse Act was passed, establishing a permanent Nurse Corps and Women's Medical Specialist Corps in the Army and Navy.

The 1970s saw women advance to the grades of Rear Admiral and Major General.

New Mexico comes to Pope club

The Officers' Open Mess presents "New Mexico," a top 40 band with a Latin beat, Thursday from 8 to midnight.

Dress is casual and club officials encourage everyone to wear red, white and green to honor the Mexican flag for Hispanic week, which begins Sept. 14.

Does base taxi run on weekends

Why on weekends does the base taxi not run? I am a weekend worker and called today to get a base taxi to take me back to the barracks because I don't have a car and the taxi didn't run so I had to walk back.

The Transportation Squadron provides taxi service on weekends; however, if there are aircrew runs in progress, often times a taxi is not readily available. If you need a taxi on weekends, please call 30 minutes prior to time required and our dispatcher can usually advise you of an available pickup time. The Transportation Squadron will serve its customers when possible, but as a customer, please be advised that minor delays may be caused by higher priorities.

Pope supports exercises

Why does Pope have to support Fort Bragg's exercises and other Military Airlift Command bases' exercises as well as our own?

The Military Airlift Command's mission is to provide combat ready units of qualified personnel in the time of war and national emergency to effect airlift support for all DoD agencies. The key to combat readiness is training. Our peacetime training mission provides for the maintenance of aircrew combat readiness as well as readiness in all vital sub-systems such as maintenance, supply and aerial port. Additionally, a byproduct of our readiness training is the capability to support our sister services in the form of airdrop, airland and other mobility training requirements. Fort Bragg, the home of the Airborne, and Pope AFB, have the ranges and the support facilities for both Air Force and Army training. We have been the busiest base in MAC for a long time and we anticipate no change as we support MAC and our sister services' training requirements.

The Military Departments have been issued 800,000 copies of the VA booklet "Benefits for Veterans and Service Personnel with Service since January 31, 1955, and Their Dependents" for Servicemembers to take home to study. These booklets should be available from personnel offices and education centers.

In addition, 1,125,000 copies of the Department of Energy's booklet "Energy Savers, Low Cost, No Cost," have been sent to Military Department publications centers for distribution. This one lists all of the latest ways that homeowners and renters can save on the heating and cooling bills around a house or apartment.

The 3rd Mobile Aerial Port Squadron was busy loading container delivery systems into the cargo compartment of C-130 Hercules aircraft this past weekend. 3MAPS, Reservists support 317th TAW training exercise

Supporting a mass four-day exercise requires a lot of hard work by a lot of people. During last week's 317th Tactical Airlift Wing's exercise to test its combat capability, the 3rd Mobile Aerial Port Squadron and Air Force Reservists from the 69th MAPS, 53rd MAPS, 459th MAPF, 84th APS and the 89th APS deployed to Fort Campbell Military Reservation near Hopkinsville, Ky.

The Air Terminal Team recovered and recycled 18 heavy equipment loads, 36 Container Delivery System loads, 72 sandbags and 72 G-12 parachutes, air-dropped by the 39th, 40th and 41st Tactical Airlift Squadrons.

The exercise also provided an intersquadron competition for the flying squadrons, won by the 41st TAS.

The Air Terminal team worked in two shifts, sometimes up 16 hours a day.

Pope's Combat Control Team controlled all scheduled airdrops, airland operations and provided strike reports for all scored events.

"The reserve units got an excellent opportunity for real world, hands-on training," said MSgt. Tom Young, mission commander. "And, they arose to the occasion very well. As far as I know, this is the first time reserve units were combined with active duty people to form this type of work force.

"The Reservists involved can deploy with me anytime, anywhere."

The Aerial Port Squadron provided airdrop loads and load teams at Pope and Fort Campbell, recovered loads at drop zones, and provided air terminal services for recycling the airdropped loads at Pope.

Awaiting president's signature

Senate, House pass Officer Grade Limitation Act

Now that the Senate and House have passed the Officer Grade Limitation Act, the next step is for the President to sign it into law. The act also includes the Nunn-Warner Amendment.

The act provides for a 25 percent increase in flight pay for officers and enlisted crew members.

In addition, it establishes a bonus variable housing allowance system based on the difference between the average monthly housing costs and 115 percent of basic allowance for quarters.

The Secretary of Defense would have discretionary authority to determine the amounts payable in fiscal 1981.

Armed Services and Office of the Secretary of Defense staffs will jointly review the results of the on-going Veteran's Housing Administration housing costs survey.

They will also assist in developing the appropriate geographical groupings for establishing the average housing costs in a given area and assist in the development of the precise payment formulas which will be used during the first year.

Since the VHA is discretionary for 1981 and the precise costs will not be determined until the results of the survey are completed, it is uncertain at this time if members in high cost areas will receive a VHA equivalent to the difference between average housing costs and 115 percent of average BAQ.

However, the conferees expressed their unanimous desire and intent that VHA be implemented effective no later than October 1980 and that funds be provided at generally the same level as would be required if VHA were an entitlement.

The VHA will become statutory entitlement payable by grade effective Sept. 30, 1981. The VHA provisions would also apply to dependents who remain in the conus when the member is stationed overseas.

Repealing the 10 cents per mile reimbursement limitation on permanent change of station moves. Reimbursement would be 18.5 cents per mile. Although the statutory limit for dependent travel would also be repealed, the rates would remain at the same at present—seven cents per mile for adults and three and a half cents for children aged two through 11 years.

Increasing separate rations allowance by 10 percent for officers and enlisted people.

Base suggestors earn cash

A1C David R. Yingling, 317th Civil Engineering Squadron received $50 for his suggestion that a catwalk be built around the air handler in Bldg. 721.

The catwalk will provide a safer work area for people performing maintenance on the equipment.

His suggestion was adopted by the squadron.

Two other Civil Engineering members received $25 each. Amn Phillip L. Rittenour suggested the installation of plexiglass shield to the tailboard handlebar of the P-12 fire truck.

Revising save-pay provisions for enlisted people and warrant officers who accept commissions. This ensures officers would receive the same increases in basic pay, BAS, BAQ and longevity they would have received as enlisted members or warrant officers.

Increasing sea-pay rates by 15 percent.

Extending the officer grade Limitations Act tables to Sept. 30, 1982, thus providing the Air Force with grade relief until Sept. 30, 1983.

Extending disability retirement and separations provisions for those with less than eight years of service until Sept. 30, 1982.

Permitting reserve enlisted members to receive retirement prior to age 60 if they complete at least 20 years of active-duty service.

The shield serves as a protective device for the handlinemen.

A1C Scott W. Shriver proposed paving the area between the road leading to the yellow ramp and the new stalls on the rampside of the fire station.

Receiving certificates of appreciation for their suggestion were: Lt. Col. John D. Fox; MSgt. Lyle D. Bishop III; TSgt. Sylvester White; SSgt. James J. Barrett and Sgt. David S. Bertholf.

The Dunking Booth was a favorite stopping place for almost everyone during Pope Fest. Several of Pope's leaders donated their time and talent as evidenced by Col. J. W. Busky (above) assistant adjutant general, 1st Cavalry Division, Fort Cavazos, Texas, who dunked a stool over the fence. Other participants included "Junkies," Lynn, Leigh Recta and Erika Burback (top center) enjoy some dancing while one of the bands played. Jeff Patton (right) looks serious but said he had a great time. An unidentified youngster (top right) got a good ride on the animal rides, while "Punkin the Clown" (Nap Cawey) kept youngsters entertained with his hilarious clowning and one-day event. More than 7,200 people visited Pope Fest 80 this year.

MWR offers recreation services to base people

by Henry H. Robinson
chief, MWR Division

Playing an intramural or varsity sport this year? Ever wonder who pays for the uniforms, equipment, odds and ends most athletes use?

The Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division. In fact, MWR programs, facilities and services cost hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

Where does the money come from? Two places. Part of the funds come from Congress called appropriated funds. That money is used to pay salaries for military and civilians who work for MWR. It's also used to buy equipment and for construction projects.

But, with as many programs MWR must provide with funds for each year, the appropriated funds is not enough. The money must come from somewhere and someone. Thus the term nonappropriated fund appears.

What's that? It's simply money made from base exchanges, theaters, packaged beverage sales, fees and charges at activities like the golf course and bowling centers. The very places that are used extensively by military members and their dependents.

In other words, the two funds together make for a well-rounded, comprehensive MWR program to be enjoyed by people at Pope year-around.

Ok, that is now understood. How about the open messes? They're under the MWR Division.

True, but the open mess nonappropriated funds are somewhat different than the others.

The open messes charge membership dues and pay to the Military Airlift Command an assessment of one percent of their total sales.

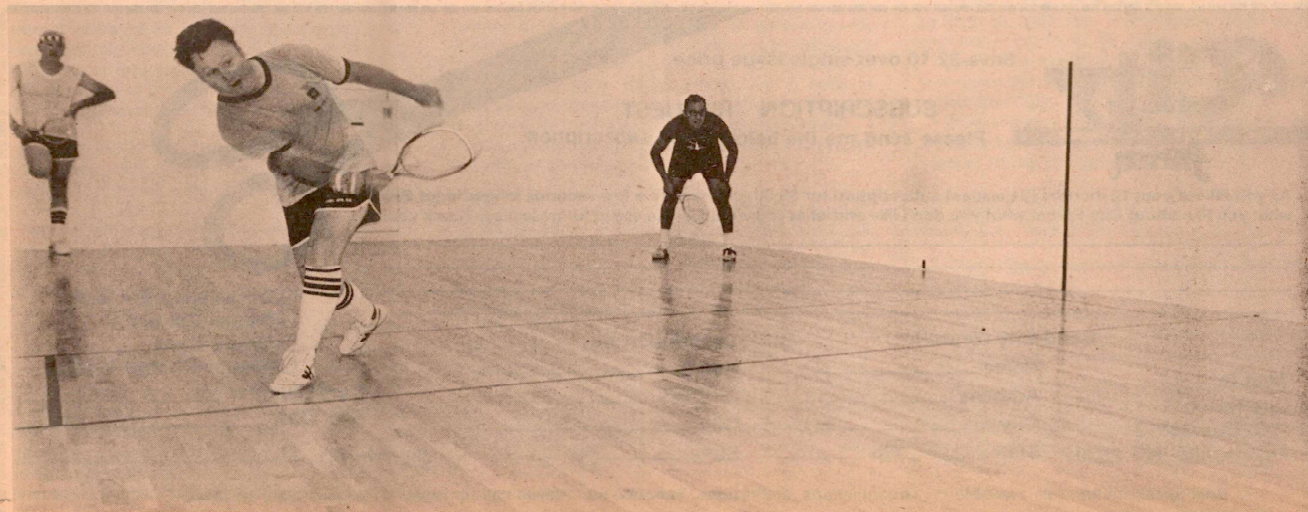

Also open messes do not receive direct allocations of funds from the Air Force or MAC. However they may receive a loan or grant from MAC.

MAC will bank the one percent assessment of each open mess, invest it and keep custody of the money so they can assist an open mess through minor construction and alteration projects.

Just about any MWR activity utilized on base is cheaper and has newer equipment than those off-base. A good example is the low fees charged at the Pope golf course and bowling center.

The sole purpose of the MWR Division is to provide the best possible facilities, programs and services at the lowest possible prices.

Large profits are not the object, but break-even or return is mandatory.
