40th TAS returns from rotation in Europe

by TSgt. Dave Skeen
317th Public Affairs Division

Early the morning of Aug. 6, wives began making preparations for a homecoming for their husbands. Children became more excited as the time grew near when they would go meet dad at Base Operations.

Some 3,620 miles away, at RAF Mildenhall, England, members of the 40th Tactical Airlift Squadron were on their first leg home via Goose Bay, Labrador. Hours earlier, while their families slept in anticipation, the crew members making the trip were loading their C-130s, and receiving last minute briefings.

Excitement was on the faces of the ones who would be the first to come home. They had spent 60 days in Europe, flying missions to places like Turkey, Norway, Greece and other exotic areas.

The squadron rotated to England in early June to fly missions in support of U.S. and Allied Forces in the European theater. The three flying squadrons at Pope rotate there at least once a year.

"Our major basing deployment was to RAF Mildenhall in the East Anglia portion of England," said Capt. Daniel Mulder, pilot with the 40th. "We were able to meet a lot of English people and found them to be very friendly toward us.

"A great deal of it had to do with the common language and heritage we share with them. They always seemed ready and willing to help us with directions, recommending places to eat and most everything else."

The squadron flew missions from Mildenhall to Turkey, usually for a two week stay. From there they would fly to other bases in Turkey carrying mail and supplies.

"I believe all the places we visited, we found the people to be extremely friendly toward us," continued the captain. "I don't think it was just the American dollar. They had a genuine desire to find out about us and we definitely had a desire to learn things about them."

"I believe the best place we visited was Athens, Greece," said 2Lt. Mark Tillman. "The beaches were close to our hotel and the Mediterranean was beautiful."

A great deal of preparation goes into a rotation. Crews must be assembled and briefed. Usually everyone is anxious to get started, and naturally everyone is anxious to return.

For the new crewmembers making their first 'rote' trip, it gave them a chance to see places they've never seen before. For the ones who have made the trip before, it gives them a chance to do some flying other than to the drop zones here.

"This was my first trip on rote," said Captain Mulder. "I'd say I'm ready to do it again. The flying in Europe was good. It was interesting, challenging and exciting. I believe it's a worthwhile experience for anyone."

At 4:15 p.m., Aug. 6, the first C-130 arrived at Pope, carrying members of the 40th. All were somewhat weary after their long trip home. But the excitement of being home again kept the weariness away.

Now they would be able to relax for awhile, fix the children's bicycle or take that promised vacation. It will be at least six months to a year before they might have to go back again. Lieutenant Tillman said it best. . . "It's great to be home."

"Welcome home dad," says Mark Rushing to his father Capt. Paul M. Rushing after he returned home from rotation in Europe last week. Happily standing by is Captain Rushing's wife, Susan, left, and daughter Tanya. The captain spent 60 days on rotation with the 40th TAS, which usually occurs once a year. (USAF photo by Tanna Sakobie)

House, Senate agree on 11.7 percent military pay increase

The House of Representatives and Senate finished a conference on the Fiscal 1980 Department of Defense Authorization Bill Aug. 1, agreeing to the following entitlement-related provisions:

To permit a one-year suspension of the pay freeze. This will allow an 11.7 percent increase in basic pay, quarters and separate rations allowances effective Oct. 1. It will also authorize the President to reallocate up to 25 percent of the pay raise by grade and years of service. However, the reallocation cannot be used to increase basic pay of military people with less than four years' service above 11.7 percent.

To authorize a family separation allowance of $30 per month for E-4s and below with less than four years of service who are separated from their families for 30 or more days.

To eliminate the 74 cents-per-mile statutory restriction on reimbursement for shipment of a house trailer or mobile dwelling.

To increase the maximum high-cost per diem rate from $35 to $50 per day and the maximum high-cost per diem from $50 to $75 daily.

To permit the Secretary of Defense to pay a continuation bonus to officers with critical rated skills who complete their initial service obligation and have less than 19 years service. The maximum bonus would be equal to four months' basic pay for each year the individual extends.

To increase the maximum possible enlistment bonus from $3,000 to $5,000 and the maximum selective re-enlistment bonus from $15,000 to $20,000. This also extends the authority for bonuses to Sept. 30, 1982.

To authorize a $600 bonus for individuals who enlist, re-enlist, or voluntarily extend in the individual ready reserve for a period of three years. The authority for Fiscal Year 1981 would initially apply to the Army.

To increase assistance under the civilian health and medical program of the uniformed services for members with handicapped dependents from $350 to $1,000 monthly. This also permits CHAMPUS immunizations for dependent children under age two.

To establish a system using the high-three average basic pay to calculate retired pay for members who enter active duty after the date of enactment. Current rules would be used for those currently on active duty and those who enter before enactment of the law.

To authorize $75 million for a directed one-year test of educational incentives including a loan-forgiveness program.

To defer Sept. 1, 1980 consumer price index adjustments until March 1, 1981. The March 1 CPI adjustment would be based on the period December 1979 to October 1980. This action is contingent on deferral of either the Sept. 1, 1980, or March 1, 1981, semi-annual increase for federal civilian retirees.

Final congressional action on the authorization bill is expected when congress returns from recess Aug. 18.

New commissioning program opens for ROTC students

Airmen who are working toward an Air Force commission now have a new opportunity for gold bars. A recent change to AFR 39-10 permits early release from active duty to those who have been accepted into the Air Force ROTC Professional Officer Course (POC). The POC is an officer preparation course taken during the last two years of the AFROTC college programs.

Eligible airmen may have their current enlistment terminated, and be discharged up to 30 days before classes start at the AFROTC-hosted college where they will enter the POC. The basic requirement for POC entry is to have completed at least two years of college. There are no restrictions on academic majors, as vacancies exist in all fields. Enlisted members who have earned a baccalaureate degree are eligible for AFROTC membership if accepted for a 2-year graduate program.

"The Air Force and particularly AFROTC, is very interested in active duty airmen," said Capt George Strawder, AFROTC admissions counselor for North Carolina. "Today's airmen represent specialized training and job experience and bring an added dimension to the officer force." Himself a product of an enlisted commissioning program, Strawder states he is "especially interested in working with local airmen to make their investment in the Air Force pay future dividends."

The Professional Officer Course is offered at more than 141 colleges and universities nationwide. In North Carolina the program is taught at Duke University, The University of North Carolina, North Carolina State University, East Carolina University, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University (A&T) and Fayetteville State University. People may apply for admission to the college of their choice and compete for entry into the POC.

AFROTC evaluates applicants on several factors, including scholastic aptitude and the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test results, academic major, and most importantly, the applicant's grade point average. A physical examination and an interview by a board of AFROTC officers completes the application process.

Strawder will explain application and processing procedures to those interested Aug. 28 and 29. His presentations are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the Education Center, Building 183.

Problems?

Commander's Forum is for your use

Got problems? Want to give someone on base special recognition for a job well done?

The Commander's Forum is available to people on base and is a direct communication link with the wing commander to help settle problems or get answers.

When Commander's Forum is called (394-4357), a recorder-phone tapes the message. If someone wants a personal answer, they should leave their name, duty section and phone number. However, if the caller wishes to remain anonymous, he or she does not have to give their name.

Although people are asked to use their chain of command in dealing with most problems, this service is readily available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

1Lt. Richard G. Smith

Panel selects 1Lt. Smith as Officer of the Quarter

First Lieutenant Richard G. Smith, officer in charge of Supply's Material Storage and Distribution branch, was selected as Pope's Junior Officer of the Quarter for April through June recently.

Lieutenant Smith entered the Air Force in April 1966. He served four years and left the service as a staff sergeant.

More than a year later, he was offered a chance to come back in the Air Force and keep the rank he held when he had been released from service.

"I came back to further my education," the 34 year-old lieutenant said. "For three years I applied for Officer's Training School, but each time I was turned down.

The Lieutenant began his career in Civil Engineering working in pavements maintenance. While working in CES, he had tours of duty at Cannon AFB, N.M., Vandenberg AFB, Calif., Wurtsmith AFB, Mich., and a remote site in Japan.

After his commission in December, 1977, he came to Pope where he's been assigned for the past 19 months.

"Pope has been my best assignment," Lieutenant Smith said. "The people here have a good attitude. I see it as a great challenge. I enjoy the Air Force overall."

In supply, the lieutenant is responsible for the entire warehouse operation which consists of 49 people in four different sections and various kinds of storage areas.

"Supply isn't an easy job," he said, "if we're late in pulling or getting an item, it could adversely affect the overall mission.

"Our job is mainly serving the customer's needs and meeting time frames, but I enjoy it."

Scout earns Eagle rank

Pope Scout, William David "Billy" Brackett, 14, son of MSgt. and Mrs. Bill Brackett, received the Eagle Scout Award recently during ceremonies at Occoneechee Council Reservation at Camp Durrant near Carthage, N.C.

In earning the award, Brackett became the first scout in four years to enter Pope Scout Troop 759 as a Tenderfoot and progress to the Eagle rank while still a member of the Pope troop. He is also the first scout ever to receive the Eagle award while at Camp Durrant, according to Troop 759 Scoutmaster Tom Young than the required 21. He also completed a 10-hour community service project of collecting old and outdated medicines throughout the housing area and disposing of them properly with the assistance of the Pope Clinic. Brackett planned, organized and provided leadership for Troop 759 throughout the project.

Brackett's hobbies are reading, model airplane building and scouting. He played catcher and outfield for the "Mets" of the Pope Youth Center Summer Baseball League.

Brackett completed the eighth grade at Irwin Jr. High School in June.

Lieutenant prays for early, safe release of Iran hostage

by 2nd Lt. Jeanette Minnich
Norton AFB, Calif.

Nearly 10 years ago, I wore a silver bracelet. It was like thousands of others that were being worn at the time, except for a couple of details. My bracelet bore the name of Cmdr. Trent Powers and the date Oct. 31, 1966. The commander was thought to be a prisoner of war, and he had been missing for five years before I began wearing the bracelet.

I wondered about this man who had been captured one night while I was still a child too young to be affected by a war thousands of miles away. What was he like? Did he have a wife and children? Was he in pain or thinking about his homeland even while I was thinking about him?

Each time I glanced at my wrist, or someone asked me about my POW bracelet, I thought of him and said a quick prayer in his behalf. I searched for others who wore POW bracelets bearing the same name.

We who had bracelets became adept at spotting others and were quick to ask who was "their POW", and how long had he been missing.

When the POWs began returning home, I read the lists three and four times always searching for the name of Commander Powers. His name never appeared on the lists; and soon after, I learned that he had become officially listed as missing in action.

I rejoiced with my friends whose POWs came home, and at the same time couldn't help feeling disappointed as I added my prayers for the family of the man who didn't return.

Once again, I'm wearing a POW bracelet. This one bears the name of Col. T.E. Schaefer, one of the Air Force hostages in Iran.

This time, I hope and pray that I'll be able to celebrate with the rest of America on his safe return home.

He didn't return

Carelessness cause most fires

Editor's Note: The following fire safety article was submitted by the Base Fire Department.

Recently a fire occurred in a family housing unit on a Military Airlift Command base. Smoking materials were left on the couch by adult family members before they retired about 1 a.m. At 6:45 a.m., the fire department did its job, within six minutes after the alarm was received.

This family had something going for it. A passerby on a motorcycle saw the fire and drove to the fire department a few blocks away to report it. At the same time, a neighbor saw the fire and called in on Ext. 117. Finally, the sponsor awoke and heard the noise of the fire in the next room.

Seatbelts save lives

Editor's Note: The following seat belt safety article was submitted by the Pope Safety Office.

QUESTION: When should seat belts be worn?
ANSWER: Seat belts should be worn at all times. Although some people claim that belts are needed only on long trips, this is not true. Expressway driving is actually safer than short trips on urban and rural roads.

More than half of all automobile accidents causing death and injury occur at speeds lower than 40 mph. Some fatalities have happened at crashes of 12 mph -- about the speed you travel in a parking lot.

Three out of four crashes resulting in death occur within 25 miles of home. One of the reasons for this higher crash rate may be that most people drive locally far more than they drive long distances. Consequently, the chances of being in an accident closer to home are greater.

Every person who uses the roads risks injury or death. Over a lifetime, a person has more than a fifty/fifty chance of being injured in an automobile accident. In fact, one in every five American drivers is involved in a car accident each year.

Air Force loss is estimated at more than $12,000, and the family lost $4,000 worth of its belongings. The sponsor suffered first and second degree burns on his arms and chest.

Careless handling of matches and smoking materials was again the leading cause for the fire.

At Pope a program has been initiated to detect any and all possible fire hazards, and to encourage dormitory managers and family housing residents to have the deficiencies corrected within a reasonable time. This program calls for all family quarters to be inspected at least twice a year.

Dormitories will be inspected quarterly. Full cooperation from all housing sponsors and dormitory managers is necessary.

Tour length reduced

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS) -- The 15-month all-others tour for Turkey is being reduced to 12 months.

Service members leaving for assignments to Ankara, Incirlik, Izmir and Yamanlar after July 15 will serve tours of 12 months. Persons with orders for these installations will be advised of the change and the possibility their assignment might be accelerated as a result of shortened tour requirements.

Those now serving all-others tours, including unaccompanied service members on extended overseas tours, will be prorated for their departure dates.

This will become effective upon the dispatch of intermediate change 80-6 to Air Force Regulation 36-20.

Huffy brakes are 'Putty'

If you own bicycle that was made by the Huffy Corporation of Dayton, Ohio, between April 15 and May 15, put the brakes on gently.

Then get off and see if you have one of the models sold under the following brand names: Huffy, All Pro, J.C. Penney, Open Road, Coast King, Westpoint, Western Flyer, Woolco, or Performer.

If you do, look for the code number on the left rear axle plate. If it begins with the letter "C" and the number behind that letter ranges from 81060 to 81360, then you could have a problem.

Huffy has discovered that as many as 95,000 bicycles made in that time frame could have a defect that may cause injury, loss of control, or failure of the brake system. The defect may be found on any bicycles except the 5-, 10-, and 12-speed bicycles made by Huffy between the dates.

If all the pieces of this puzzle fit, roll—don't ride—the bicycle to a Huffy service center, or the store you bought it from, for free inspection and repair.

Traveling in excess of 100 miles per hour, the fire-engine red 1971 Corvette races down the quarter-mile straight track in slightly more than 11 seconds.

Carb check

The car recently won the 1980 National Hot Rod Association Summer Nationals in Englishtown, N.J., in its stock class and final elimination competition.

The car's best performance is 11.48 seconds with speeds of more than 115 mph, according to William Phillips, 317th Tactical Airlift Wing data automation computer systems control supervisor and crewman for Frank Ham, car owner and driver.

Phillips was working at a local auto parts store in Fayetteville when he met Ham a year and a half ago.

"He came into the store and said he had a racing car. He invited me out to his house and to race to watch his car," Phillips said.

"I began helping him on weekends and finally I was working with him full-time. I am his crewman now. I do various work from carrying water to cool the car to engine work.

"When we do engine work, he's the one who says what goes on. He puts the money into it and won't let me buy anything for the car. Occasionally, I will buy a $1 or $2 part," he explained.

"All the precision machine work is taken to a machine shop 60 miles from here. However, the actual assembly of the engine is done by us.

"As we go to different races and meet drivers, we swap ideas. Sometimes a driver will tell us how he saved two seconds, and that is important. Two seconds is like two hours to a driver," Phillips said.

"Every second is important. Drivers live or die by them. A lot of races are won within the first 60 feet due to a second or two head start. We're always looking for ways to improve the car and to make it go faster," he said.

"We drag race in a stock B class, automatic. The NHRA sets guidelines we have to follow and these are checked very closely. I've seen them tear down an engine to see if the cam was legal. They get very picky.

"I think in a few years, I'll want my own car and do my own auto racing. But, right now, I don't make enough to do that, even though, I could probably start buying a car," he said.

"It takes a lot of money and time to get a car set up for drag racing. It would cost me around $8,000 to $9,000 to get a car ready for stock drag racing.

"If I get a overseas assignment and could save enough money I would buy one. I don't believe I will part with auto racing anytime soon. Auto racing is just naturally in my system."

Seconds count as William Phillips checks the tire pressure of the "Glass Slipper," a 1971 red Corvett. Phillips is the crewman for Frank Ham, owner and driver of the car. Recently Ham placed first in his stock class and final elimination at the 1980 Internation NHRA Summer Nationals held in Englishtown, N.J. (USAF photo by Sally Pender).

Bowling programs revive next month

By Mike Callahan
USAF CLINIC

Winter in August? Not exactly, but August and September are traditionally the months that bowling centers around the country prepare for the opening of the winter bowling season.

Pope Lanes is no exception as first-time bowlers and seasoned veterans alike will find plenty of competition when the more than 12 leagues forming address the pins at Pope's 16-lane facility next month.

The Sundowners League, which uses a mixed couples format (2 men - 2 women per team), will attempt a comeback onto the Pope bowling scene after a one-year absence.

The league, if interest warrants, will bowl on Sundays at 6 p.m. Interested persons may sign up in the lobby of the bowling center or call Charlie Norris, bowling center manager, at Ext. 2891.

The Pope Officers' Wives' Club League bowls Monday mornings and is open to the wives of all Pope officers. Interested wives should contact the local Officers' Wives' Club officials.

Intramural action gets underway Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 9, with the American League taking to the lanes at 5 p.m. National League play starts Sept. 10. The annual meeting of units king part will be in the bowling center conference room Aug. 26 at 4 p.m. Units should make every attempt to ensure they are represented at this session.

Interested active duty people and authorized DoD civilian employees should contact their orderly rooms or athletic officer/NCO for details. For additional information, contact the base gym or Mike Callahan at Ext. 2207.

The Pope Officer's Mixed Couples League will bowl on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. Interested officers and their adult dependents should contact Chuck Kershaw at 488-0106 or Ext. 2241.

The Wednesday Morning Wives' League bowls at 9 a.m. each Wednesday and is open to all wives, active or retired. Interested women may sign up in the bowling center lobby or may call Mrs. Anita Bean at 867-5253 or Mrs. Ro Callahan at 497-6202.

The Wednesday Night Mixed Couples League bowls at 8 p.m. each Wednesday, beginning Sept. 10. A meeting of league players will be in the bowling center conference room Aug. 27 at 7 p.m. Interested persons may sign up in the bowling center lobby or contact Bob Phillips at 497-1569.

The Guys 'N Gals Mixed Couples League bowls each Thursday at 7 p.m. League play is scheduled to begin Sept. 11. A meeting of all league members will be in the bowling center conference room Aug. 31 at 6 p.m. Interested parties may also sign up in the lobby of the bowling center.

The Foxy Ladies Wives' League bowls at 9:30 each Friday morning and is open to the wives of all people, active and retired. Interested women may sign up in the lobby of the bowling center or call Mrs. Anita Bean at 867-5323 or Mrs. Ro Callahan at 497-6202.

The Friday Night Mixed Couples League will open play Sept. 12. Interested individuals may sign up in the bowling center lobby or call Mike Callahan at 497-6202 or Jerry Long at 497-8792. There will be a league organizational meeting Aug. 29 at 7 p.m. in the bowling center conference room.

The Four American Junior Bowling Congress Bowling Leagues, Bantam I and II, Juniors and Seniors, provide competition for dependent children ages 4 to 18 and bowl each Saturday. Registration dates will be announced. For additional information, call Richard Gohl at 822-0552.

Norris, bowling center manager, is expecting the biggest winter season in years.

"The staff (bowling center) and a few invaluable volunteers have worked very hard the past few weeks preparing for the upcoming season," he said.

"In addition to the wide variety of league competition available, the expanded intramural special events activities, strong varsity program and several 'house' tournaments combine to provide Pope bowlers with one of the most varied military bowling programs in the country," Norris said.

"I'd like to personally extend an invitation to all Pope people and their dependents to come in and sign up for a winter of bowling enjoyment," he concluded.

Wanted: Tour Escorts

The Wing Public Affairs Division is looking for junior officers and enlisted E-4s and E-5s with a personality to help with the base tour program as tour escorts. Public Affairs has scheduled 10 tours over the next six weeks for school and special education groups from the local area. Tours are usually in the mornings and last about two hours. People who like people will appreciate this opportunity. Contact the Public Affairs Division at Ext. 4183 for more information.
