Former Naval Station Treasure Island Notice of Second Five-Year Review

The United States Department of the Navy Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) Project Management Office (PMO) West has completed the Second Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) Five-Year Review for former Naval Station Treasure Island in San Francisco, California. This has been done in accordance with the requirements of CERCLA Section 121 (c).

The purpose of this Second Five-Year Review is to determine whether the remedies implemented in accordance with the Final Records of Decision for Installation Restoration Program Sites 6, 12, 21, 24, 27, and 30 remain protective of human health and the environment. This review evaluates each remedy's performance and recommends improvements if the remedy is not performing as designed. Sites 21, 27, and 30 were determined to be protective. Site 24 was determined protective in the short term. Sites 6 and 12 received the determination of protectiveness deferred, with recommendations for follow-up by the next Five-Year Review in 2025.

Due to COVID-19 and the closure of public buildings, a hardcopy of the final report will not be submitted into the information repository at the San Francisco Public Library. Instead, the report can be found on the Documents page of the Former Naval Station Treasure Island BRAC website.
