(U) Nate Gerson Anecdotes

(U) I recall a time in the mid 1980s when I worked in Fanx III. We used to go up to the Holiday Inn for happy hour on Fridays. The cuisine was cheap ($0.25?) hot dogs and beer. On more than one occasion, one would see Nate and (I suppose so anyway) his wife sitting at a table enjoying happy hour. Nothing wrong with that - Its just that a Senior in more ways than one (NSA grade and AARP eligibility) stuck out a little among the twenty-somethings early in their NSA career.
